Details (Krushy Aranya Protsaha Yojane (kapy))

The Karnataka Forest Department launched the 'Krushy Aranya Protsaha Yojane (KAPY)' program in 2011-12 to encourage farmers and the general public to increase forest and tree cover.

Objectives (Krushy Aranya Protsaha Yojane (kapy))

- The Karnataka Forest Department launched the 'Krushy Aranya Protsaha Yojane (KAPY)' program in 2011
- 12 to encourage farmers and the general public to increase forest and tree cover. The program provides subsidized seedlings to farmers for planting on their lands. Farmers are paid an incentive of Rs 35 for every surviving seedling at the end of the first year, Rs 40 after the completion of the second year, and Rs 50 after the completion of the third year. This is done to encourage the farmers to nurture the seedlings for at least three years. ■ The amount of money provided as an incentive (Rs 125/
- per seedling) more than compensates the cost incurred by the farmer in procuring and planting the seedling.

Benefits (Krushy Aranya Protsaha Yojane (kapy))

- Increased forest and tree cover: The main benefit of the Krushy Aranya Protsaha Yojane (KAPY) scheme is the promotion of the cooperation of farmers and the general public in the task of increasing forest and tree cover. Subsidized seedlings: Under the scheme, farmers are provided seedlings at subsidized rates from the nearest nurseries of the Forest Department for planting in their lands. Monetary incentive: The farmers are paid an amount of Rs 35 as an incentive for every surviving seedling at the end of the first year, Rs 40 for the second year, and Rs 50 for the third year. Encourages nurturing: The incentive is given to encourage the farmer not only to plant the seedlings but also to nurture them at least for three years. Compensates cost: The total amount of money provided (Rs 125/
- per seedling) more than compensates the cost incurred by the farmer in procuring and planting the seedling. Restriction on ineligible species: The scheme has restrictions on ineligible tree species, which helps promote the planting of appropriate tree species and prevents the proliferation of invasive species.
